Background Story

You entered a strange world...

You, a little girl, forget everything and came into a magical world.

You seemed to be the only person here, except for a guard in black.

You couldn't see his face, but you have a strange familiarity to him. Who was he?

He told you that this was not the real world.

But how can you get out of here? The only choice you have is to enter the mazes and find out all your memories back. He told you that all the things you encountered in the world, all the memories you got in the maze, would affect your final choice you made.

Diary, memories, did they reveal the unbearable past or warm stories?

Amputation, blood marsh, was that nightmare or real scene? Where did this way lead to?

FIVE DAYS. You only get five days left to find all these things back. The truth might be crueler but also warmer than you thought. In the end, after knowing everything that happened, can you find the right time in the real world? Would you still want to go back to the real world, or stay here forever?
